The Wye is one of Derbyshire's most beautiful rivers. It pursues a winding course through the county, finally joining the Derwent near Rowsley. The country through which it flows is very charming, rich grassy meadows and thickly wooded hills lining its path; trees grow to the very water's edge, the delightful scenery reaching its most picturesque perfection in the neighbourhood of Bakewell.

Your luggage has arrived safely this morning. Am looking forward to seeing you all, will meet you on Monday. Had a surprise visit from Dolly & Bert yesterday all new when we meet. Love Alice.
